

The clinical trial included 30 participants.

The final analysis included only 24 participants who completed all phases.